In faith – celebrating today, embracing tomorrow.

To Whom It May Concern:

Miss Angela Eibach has been a progressive, enthusiastic, and dedicated fifth and sixth grade English Language Arts and Social Studies teacher for two years at St. John Vianney Regional School, in the Diocese of Allentown.

As a reading/resource specialist I have worked with Miss Eibach during her experiences with the school community. She has successfully implemented the curriculum on all instructional levels with strategic and enrichment interventions.

She actively participates in the ongoing curriculum evaluation and the implementation of the English Language Arts program to ensure cross curriculum development with her team teachers. Miss Eibach's integration of English Language Arts and Social Studies instruction demonstrates her respected influence in cooperative team planning. Her participation in the school Instructional Support Team (IST) provides her with the opportunity to accommodate student needs and skill development.

Miss Eibach promotes student interest and achievement with engaging and colorful self designed wall posters for academic and behavioral objective references.

Her integration of Reader's Theater, Reading Olympics, and a Baking Club successfully promotes authentic learning with students reading to learn and reading for pleasure.

Miss Eibach has established positive relationships with students, parents, faculty and staff through her sincere, professional and responsive demeanor as a teacher. Her sincere interest in each child's education is an encouragement to those students whom she is given and opportunity to influence. Miss Eibach is an excellent candidate for a teaching position in your education program.

Sincerely,
